PREFACE

This little book is a tribute to those of the Jackson Clan who have passed away and a salute to the living generations of this great family.

In my research of the records, going back as far as the 15th Century, I have found no ancestors of whom we need be ashamed, and there are many of our forebears and of our living relatives of whom we may be very proud.

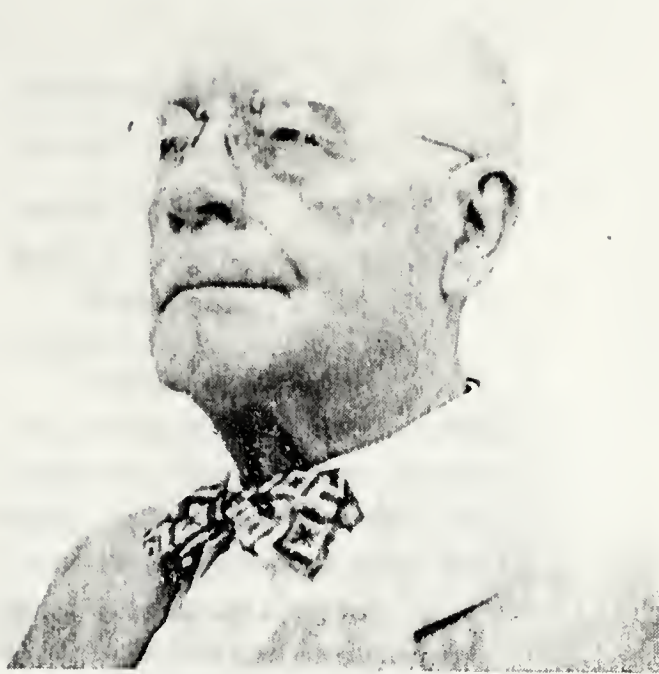

To all of those who have responded to my calls for assistance and information I give my heartfelt thanks. Without the information they have provided these records would be far less complete than they are. There is much more family history I would like to have gathered, and it is possible there may be errors in some of the reports I have obtained. I have endeavored to follow every lead that promised to yield information about our family tree. If there are names omitted it is because I failed to get replies to some of my inquiries. For any omissions or mistakes I am sorry. This volume represents the result of more than three years of research and hundreds of communications with relatives all over the United States. It has been a labor of love for the Jackson family.

I am especially appreciative of the assistance of Percy Pemberton Brown who has made valuable contributions of family history. Also of the assistance of Thana (Jackson) Fuller and her daughter, Ruth Myers, in editing the manuscript, and to Thomas Jackson for making the publication possible.

NOTE: In the 3rd Chapter, it seemed logical to complete the records of each descendant of Josiah and Ruth Steer Jackson up to the present time before beginning the next. We have attempted to indicate the generation to which each person belongs by outline form. For example:

- I. 4th generation (from Ephraim Jackson)
 - A. 5th generation
 - 1. 6th generation
 - a. 7th generation
 - (1) 8th generation
 - (a) 9th generation
 - (A) 10th generation

Lancashire, England, includes two villages named Eccleston. The Jackson home was in Eccleston, St. Michael Parish, about 22 miles north and slightly east of Liverpool. It is now on the rail line connecting the city of Wigan with Preston.

There are many records of English parish registers in American genealogical collections. Cincinnati and Indianapolis libraries contain hundreds of them, and the Congressional Library is supposed to have a copy of everything contained in all other American libraries.

A source of some of the material presented in this history is a book, "Records of the Jackson Family" by Halliday Jackson. It contains in the appendix (pp 288 ff) an account of our family down to Josiah Jackson. The introduction to this book indicates that the author had access to the records from St. Michael's Parish, Lancashire, but he made no attempt to analyze his English material, except to mention that the most common names he found there were Thomas, Isaac, and John, with mention of a Joseph and a Nicholas.

INTRODUCTION

The name of Jackson is as ancient as our language. We are unable to trace the genealogy farther than the tenth or eleventh century. The Jacksons are no doubt of Viking or Norse origin, since all families whose names end in son or sen are of Scandinavian descent as the use of these endings is a Norse custom.

When they moved into Scotland, Ireland, and England we do not know. They were known and had a coat of arms Toyphin during the time of Douglas in Scotland. They were prominent in Lancashire and Yorkshire in England since the 15th Century and have been Freeholders since that time. This means that they had a tenure of real property by which an estate of inheritance or for life is held or the estate itself, hence a freeholder.

The traditions of the family clearly show that the Jacksons were men of firmness, character and decision. In times when men had to dodge, duck or die, they were firm and steadfast in their beliefs, especially in religion.

On June 27, 1556, Ralph Jackson was burned at the stake at Stratford, England, and thus inscribed his name on the roll of those who preferred death to a renunciation of what they deemed the truth. A few months later John Jackson also had to face his persecutors, being charged with heresy. "I am told thou are the rankest heretic of all," his chief accuser said. Mr. Jackson's reply was, "It is easier to call a man a heretic than to prove him one." He was not called upon to give up his life for his faith, but that one of the family should be found among the sufferers in so noble a cause redounds to its honor and sheds a certain luster on the name.

Men of such mold were not likely to be quiescent in such stormy times, but whether the Jacksons supported the fortunes of the house of York or Lancaster or what part they took in political struggles is not known. It seems, however, that they became entitled to a family coat of arms. The device, a greyhound, signifies swiftness by land. The dolphin emblazoned on some of the Jackson arms denotes swiftness by sea.

The arms, as described in heraldry, are argent on a fesse, between a goat's head and a ship in full sail. A greyhound courant between two pheons or. The crest is a goat's head couped, argent, armed and bearded, gorged with a collar gule. There is no motto.

As the right to family arms was the criterion which distinguished the gentleman from the peasant, a certain degree of rank is indicated.

Anthony Jackson is the first ancestor from whom descent can be traced in an unbroken line. He was born at Eccleston in the parish of St. Michael, Lancashire, England, about the beginning of the seventeenth century. In 1649, with his brother Richard, he removed to Ireland and settled in Ulster. Richard married Margaret Keete who, like himself, was an emigrant from England. A few years later Anthony and Richard Jackson, having become disciples of George Fox, established the first Friend's meeting in Ireland.

A grandson of Isaac Jackson, William Jackson, was a Friend and an elder. It is related of him that he would never lend money at a rate of interest exceeding five percent and he allowed his debtors to pay when convenient. He was plain in his style of living and the ancient trencher with its fitting accompaniment adorned his family table long after it disappeared from every other household.

In 1758 Isaac Jackson, with others, took steps toward the emancipation of all slaves held by members of the Society of Friends. Alice Jackson, who was a gifted preacher of the Society, brought the subject of Friends using the products of slave labor before the yearly meeting in Philadelphia in an address which constituted the first step in a reform organized a few years later.

The Jacksons have ever been an honest, industrious, enterprising, God-fearing, and God-loving people. As to professions, medicine attracted a great number. Some were merchants, some mechanics, more were farmers, and a few were lawyers, though the early generation regarded this profession with anything but favor.

According to tradition, General Andrew Jackson came from a branch of our family. His father emigrated in 1765 from Carrickfergus in Ireland, near which city Anthony Jackson settled in 1649. My father, Stephen Jackson, heard it said by some of our relatives before Andrew became President, that he was descended from a brother of Richard and Anthony who removed from England to Ireland at or about the same time they did. He did not connect himself with the despised and persecuted Quakers and it is suggested that he became estranged from his brothers on that account.

The story of the "Stonewall" Jackson family begins with a John Jackson who went from Eccleston in Lancashire to the city of London where he became a wealthy merchant. When he married a second wife with whom his son, also named John, could not agree, the young man went to visit his uncles in Ireland and later came to New Jersey.

The Quakers were considered heretics and often were completely separated from family as well as the established Church of England. Until it became clear that Quakerism was a distinctive faith and meetings were formally organized, there is a brief period of years that written records are impossible to obtain. There seems no doubt, however, that this branch of the family descended from Anthony Jackson in Ireland, although formal written records begin with the grandson, Ephraim Jackson, born about 1658.

Since the genealogy of this family is so closely woven into the history of the Quakers, it might be well to mention the founder of the Society of Friends, George Fox, who was born at Fenny Drayton, England, in 1624 and began his active ministry in 1647. Other noted Friends were John Bright of England and Robert Barclay of Scotland. In America, William Penn, born 1644, died 1718, was founder of Pennsylvania, and laid out Philadelphia in 1682. Others who attained great eminence were John G. Whittier, Elias Hicks, Joseph Gurney, John Wilbur. Lucretia Mott, Dolly Madison (born a Quaker), and Herbert Hoover.

MEMBERSHIP IN DAUGHTERS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION AND SONS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION

The following information may be used in applying for membership in the above organization. It is a copy of a report received from the Adjutant General's Office, and is the information needed under "Ancestor's Service."

"The records of this office show that one Josiah Jackson served in the Revolutionary War in a cavalry organization of Virginia troops, designation of organization not shown. His name appears only on a list of soldiers and seamen who received certificates for the balance of their full pay agreeable to act of assembly, passed November session, 1781, which list shows relative to him, "By whom drawn, Mr. Morton; Time, April 2, 1784, Sum 56 pounds, seven shillings, eleven pence."

Also, information received from Virginia Historical Society, Report p. 237. "Can also give name of Ruth Steer Jackson Leatherman. Daughter of the American Revolution, National No. 95560, who has been admitted to membership as a descendant of the same Josiah Jackson." Israel Ernest Jackson was admitted to the National Society Sons of the American Revolution as a descendant of the same Josiah Jackson." Admitted February 23, 1951, District of Columbia, No. 2769, National No. 73314.

Descendants of Stephen and Elizabeth Roberts Jackson are also eligible by descent from Jesse Roberts, born 1755, married Elizabeth Hedden, 9-1-1777. He died in Morris Co., N. J., in 1815. He served during the Revolutionary War in Capt. Morrison's Co. 2 Establishment, N. J. Continental Line, serving in action about New York City. He also served in Morris Co. militia.

AUTHENTIC HISTORY OF THE DESCENDANTS OF EPHRAIM JACKSON

CHAPTER I—EPHRAIM JACKSON

Ephriam Jackson was born in England at Eccleston, Lancashire about 1658. He came to America in 1687, being then about 27 years of age. In 1695 he married Rachel Newlin, daughter of Nicholas and Elizabeth Newlin who came from Montmellick Monthly Meeting, Ireland, in 1683, to Concord. After her marriage, her parents moved to Edgemont. Their transfer of membership from Montmellick, dated 2 mo. 25th, 1683, was signed by a committee which included the great Irish Quaker, Wm. Edmunson. Ephraim Jackson on arrival had landed at Newcastle, Delaware, but after their marriage they were members of Chester Monthly Meeting in Pennsylvania. Ephriam died in 1732 and Rachel in 1742. Their children were:

John, Born	1 mo 26 1697	No Record
Joseph, Born	6 mo 19 1698	Died 9 mo 6 1698
Joseph, Born	7 mo 13 1699	No Record
Nathaniel, Born . . .	6 mo 17 1701	No Record
Josiah, Born	11 mo 20 1702	No Record
Samuel, Born	12 mo 13 1704	Died 1748
Ephriam, Born	11 mo 7 1706	No Record
Mary, Born	4 mo 3 1708	No Record
Rachel, Born	5 mo 10 1710	No Record

As the Friends did not believe in marking the graves of deceased members with anything but rough field stones, it is impossible to find the graves of any ancestors till we come to a later date. Ephriam may have been buried in one of the cemeteries of the various meetings making up Chester Monthly Meeting.

CHAPTER II — SAMUEL JACKSON

Samuel Jackson, sixth child of Ephriam and Rachel Newlin Jackson, was born 12 mo 13, 1704. He married Ann Johnson, daughter of Robert and Margaret Johnson at New Garden, Pennsylvania Meeting, 3 mo 15, 1728. The Johnsons were also from Ireland, arriving first at Nottingham in 1714. When Samuel died in 1748, he left no will and the court made his brother-in-law, Robert Johnson, Jr., guardian of the minor children. One account says the minor children were for a time in an orphans' asylum. The widow, Ann, married John Scarlet 4 mo 3, 1752, who also had children by a first wife. It seems probable that both families were kept together as the records show that Samuel, Jr., married in 1761 Mary Scarlet, a daughter of John Scarlet. Children of Samuel and Ann were:

In the year 1724 application to build a meeting house at Sadsbury, Pa., was granted and a log one was built in 1725. Another was built in 1747. This one partly burned in 1777 and was rebuilt. Sadsbury meeting house is two miles west of the town of Christiana, Pennsylvania.

CHAPTER III—JOSIAH JACKSON

Josiah Jackson, second child of Samuel and Ann Jackson, was born 3 mo 5, 1732. He married Ruth Steer at Lampiter, Pa., and the following is quoted from the MINUTES, BIRTHS, BURIALS of the SADS-BURY MONTHLY MEETING, 1733-1835, Page 92.

"Whereas JOSIAH JACKSON, son of SAMUEL JACKSON, Deceased of Leacock Township, Lancaster County and Province of Pennsylvania and RUTH STEER daughter of Joseph Steer, of Lampiter Township, in ye county and province aforesaid having declared their intentions at taking each other in Marriage before two Monthly Meetings of the People Called Quakers, Viz. at Lampiter & Sadsbury in the County aforesaid, according to the Good order used amongst them. Now these are to certifie all whom it may concern That for the full accomplishing of their said intentions this twenty second day of the third month in the year of our Lord one Thousand Seven hundred and Sixty Four they, the said Josiah Jackson, and Ruth Steer, appeared in a Public assembly of the aforesaid people appointed for that purpose in her Fathers House in Lampiter." Thirty-nine people signed the wedding certificate.

Page 131. 4 mo 18, 1764, "the Friends appointed report they attended the marriage of JOSIAH JACKSON and RUTH STEER and saw nothing disorderly except that of being married at her Fathers House."

The Steer Family (Steere)

Ruth Steer's backgroud is an interesting one. The Steer (Steere) family was one of the first to become Friends in Ireland and like almost all Quaker Irish families was originally English. Their history is also recorded here as follows:

William Steere became a Quaker and his persecution is recorded in 1665. His will was filed May 10, 1685 in Parish of Kilmore, County Armagh, Ireland. Children were Isaac and Hannah.

Isaac Steere, son of William, married Ruth Mercer in 1696. He followed his older sons to Pennsylvania in 1737, living at New Garden and later at Sadsbury. Their children were:

Nicholas, born 1702 married in Ireland, Ann Lewis

John, born 1704 married in Ireland, Rachel Evans 1732

JOSEPH, born 1709 married Grace Edgerton, 1746

Catherine, married Thomas Nevitt, 1743

Joseph Steere, third son of Isaac and Ruth, came to America with the family when he was eighteen. He married in 1746 Grace Edgerton, widow of Joseph Edgerton, and daughter of Hatthill and Abigail Varman. (Grace had one daughter, Abigail, by Edgerton. This Abigail Edgerton later married James Steere, a nephew of Joseph and son of John and Rachel (Evans) Steere, mentioned above.) Children of Joseph and Grace Steere were:

RUTH, born . . . 3 mo 3 1747 married Josiah Jackson
Hannah, born . . . 3 mo 25 1749 married Mashac Saxton 1768
Sarah, born . . . 1 mo 27 1751
Mary, born . . . 2 mo 21 1752 married Isaac Perkins, Jr.
Joseph, born 12 mo 26 1754 married Grace Lupton, 1776
(He was an overseer at Center and later at the Ridge meeting, and was clerk of Hopewell Monthly Meeting)
Isaac, born . . . 12 mo 21 1757 married Phebe Hollingsworth
April 21, 1779. This couple later became elders of Hopewell Monthly Meeting.

After Ruth and Josiah Jackson were married, they went with both their families to Frederick County, Virginia, where their children were reared. Again quoting from the SADS BURY MONTHLY MEETING, Page 167, 11 mo 18, 1767, "Lampiter Preparative Meeting reports that Josiah Jackson requests a Certificate for himself, wife and 2 children (viz) Samuel and Grace Jackson to Hopewell Monthly Meeting in Virginia." Page 170, 3 mo 23, 1768. "The friends appointed report the obstructions against Josiah Jackson's Certificate is now removed and they produced one to this meeting which was approved and signed."

The Hopewell meeting was established in 1734 and became one of the larger Quaker groups. Records show that Josiah Jackson was an overseer at Hopewell and his wife, Ruth, was clerk of the Womens Meeting for many years.

Children of Josiah and Ruth were:

Samuel, Born . . .	1 mo 7 1765, Died . . .	12 mo 22 1845
Grace, Born	11 mo 15 1766, Died	9 mo 1839
Josiah, Born	1771, Died . . .	3 mo 23 1835

1. The first part of the paper is devoted to a general discussion of the problem of the existence of solutions of the system of equations

$$\frac{dx}{dt} = f(x, y, z), \quad \frac{dy}{dt} = g(x, y, z), \quad \frac{dz}{dt} = h(x, y, z),$$

where f, g, h are continuous functions of x, y, z in a certain domain D of the three-dimensional space.

2. In the second part of the paper the author considers the case when the functions f, g, h are linear in x, y, z .

3. In the third part of the paper the author considers the case when the functions f, g, h are quadratic in x, y, z .

4. In the fourth part of the paper the author considers the case when the functions f, g, h are cubic in x, y, z .

5. In the fifth part of the paper the author considers the case when the functions f, g, h are of higher order in x, y, z .

6. In the sixth part of the paper the author considers the case when the functions f, g, h are transcendental in x, y, z .

7. In the seventh part of the paper the author considers the case when the functions f, g, h are discontinuous in x, y, z .

8. In the eighth part of the paper the author considers the case when the functions f, g, h are not defined in the whole domain D .

9. In the ninth part of the paper the author considers the case when the functions f, g, h are not continuous in the whole domain D .

10. In the tenth part of the paper the author considers the case when the functions f, g, h are not defined in the whole domain D .

11. In the eleventh part of the paper the author considers the case when the functions f, g, h are not continuous in the whole domain D .

12. In the twelfth part of the paper the author considers the case when the functions f, g, h are not defined in the whole domain D .

13. In the thirteenth part of the paper the author considers the case when the functions f, g, h are not continuous in the whole domain D .

14. In the fourteenth part of the paper the author considers the case when the functions f, g, h are not defined in the whole domain D .
